

"O give thanks unto the LORD; for he is good:
because his mercy endureth for ever." Psalms 118:1

PEPE News update

June 2011

Hi everyone,

Well, we are almost ready to take the plane and begin our eventful summer. We leave France on the 16th of June. Karie will be arriving at the Raleigh airport in NC from Anchorage just before we arrive at the same airport from France.

We will spend a few days in NC to help get Karie packed up and then head up to Michigan for a few days to get her things unloaded and take care of some other business. We will then be taking Andrew to visit Grace College in Indiana so that he can visualize where he will be in the fall. Then on to Ohio to pick up Kristie and then Lexington, KY to see about housing for her as she begins this new stage of life at the University of Kentucky.

We will then be back in Michigan for a good week before heading off on our trek cross North America to get Karie settled in Alaska.

From Alaska, we will be going to Washington to see Kristie's boyfriend's family. Kathy was able to meet them at the Cedarville graduation, but it will be a first for me. We'll then be traveling back to Michigan for a few days before taking Andrew down to college and getting Kristie moved into her apartment in Lexington.

In France, we call this a "casse-tête"—a head breaker!! It makes me tired just typing it!! We are so thrilled and thankful, though, to be able to participate in this stage of our childrens' lives.

The Lord has been good. Some of you are aware that Ray Ingraham had open heart surgery while traveling in the States. As a result, he and his wife will be unable to replace us this summer as planned. But the Lord is good. Ray and Carol are very disappointed not to be able to come, but thankfully, Ray is recuperating and gaining strength little by little. Also, two of the men in the church have offered to "man the ship" along with a few guest speakers who will be coming to fill the pulpit. So all in all it might turn out to be the best for the church family here. It has been encouraging to see people step up and take on responsibilities knowing that we will be gone over the summer months. We praise the Lord for this remembering that His way is perfect.

Thanks so much for all your prayers and continue to pray for us during these long hours on the road this summer.

In Christ, Tony
