

Just a quick note to let you know that in January I'm headed to Jamaica with a team from Dayton Christian School. We're doing the usual teacher training, Spiritual Emphasis Week, working in the classrooms, after school clubs, and construction --however, nearly every part of our ministry will be "tweaked" this year.

1. Teacher Training - One of the new leaders is an expert on the Myers-Briggs personality test. One of the advantages is not really in the test itself but in the information that she gives.
2. Spiritual Emphasis Week - We are totally restructuring the way we do chapel. We're planning to start with the sermon and deliver all the other parts in smaller chunks.
3. Classrooms - We're primarily using games and activities to teach. It should be fun and educational.
4. After-school Clubs - For years the Kid's Club has been very popular. "Kids" of all ages want to attend so we're only going to offer that one club.
5. Construction - We're hoping to go to a local primary school and help there. My teams usually don't get the opportunity to see hearing Jamaican culture because we focus on the Deaf at CCCD.

The last couple of months we've been meeting and working on the details for our trip. Your prayers for a God-honoring and effective ministry are appreciated.
